Excellence in Truth and Service

Office of the President

Dear Class of 2026 Accepted Students:

On behalf of the entire extended Howard family, congratulations on your acceptance to our University! Howard has a sterling reputation as an institution that advocates for social justice and cultivates leaders who have the skills and the knowledge to serve as social justice crusaders. In our history, Howard has produced four Rhodes Scholars, three Marshal Scholars, 12 Truman Scholars, 25 Pickering Fellows and more than 165 Fulbright recipients. Our esteemed alumni include the iconic, groundbreaking actors Taraji P. Henson and Chadwick Boseman as well as Thurgood Marshall, the first African-American Supreme Court justice, and Kamala Harris, the first Black female vice president of the United States.

Howard has a proud history and an unrivaled legacy. But our future is even more promising. We have recently announced initiatives to invest $785 million in new construction and renovation projects to revitalize the buildings and facilities on our campus. Howard is already firmly entrenched as a leading institution of higher education, and these changes will propel us to even greater heights.

While these new real estate projects are certainly exciting, we must always remember that Howard is not defined by bricks and mortar, but by the people who call the Mecca home. Upgrades to our facilities will make our University a premier destination for scholars, researchers and leaders from around the world who wish to join the ranks of our students and faculty. By coming to Howard now, you will have an opportunity to leave your fingerprint on this vital University. The institution Howard is on the verge of becoming will be dictated by the people who populate our campus. To be sure, the spaces where you will live and work and study will influence your experience, and Howard is committed to providing all our students with the facilities they deserve. But you as an individual are more important than any physical structure we may build.

As Howard is on the verge of change, and as the world around us remains in flux, now is an opportune moment to begin your Howard career. The pandemic has revealed historic and deep-seated inequities in health care, the justice system, corporate America and society at large, and many students are passionate about illuminating the truth and resolving these issues once and for all. Howard continues to produce half of the Black doctors and dentists nationwide and remains the top producer of African-Americans achieving Ph.D.s in STEM fields. Howard students learn how to use their education to incite change and reform.

When you're admitted to Howard, we invite you to join us on a journey to disrupt the status quo and prepare you for every experience that awaits you in life. Now more than ever, the world needs you.

I am confident that, whichever path you may choose, whichever passion you may pursue, you will allow the values of truth and service to guide you. I hope this world-class institution will become an important chapter in your story.

I look forward to welcoming you to the Howard University family and preparing to celebrate your future success.

Excellence in Truth and Service,

Wayne A. I. Frederick, M.D., MBA
